

Instructions for Jairus' daughter craft

1. Start by cutting out the shapes on the instructions page. Try and cut them carefully, the inside of the table can be left solid if you wish.

5. Glue the pull tab to the inside of the little girls back, that's the side WITHOUT colour. The markings are clearly visible if you hold it up to the light.

2. Before moving onto the pieces prepare the back-ground by folding along the floor line.

6. Fold the glue tab forwards along the dotted line of the girls back. Then glue the tops of her heads together. If you've gone wrong so far it won't work.

3. Cut the 3 slits in the bed shape between the parallel lines, this is best done with a craft knife and can be done before the session if you would prefer.

7. Add glue to the tab on the little girl and slide into the first slit.

4. Fold the bed along the dotted lines, this can be a little tricky by the slit and scoring may help!

8. Slide the long tab through the two remaining slits.

9. Slide the long tab through the two remaining slits.

13. Jairus can be cut along with his support. Fold the support along the dotted lines.

10. Turn the mechanism over and glue onto the back-ground where the box indicates.

14. Glue the support to Jarius. He can be glued to the back-ground piece last or left as a free-standing piece.

11. The table is made from 2 pieces. removing the middle is optional but once folded along the dotted lines you will still need to use the securing tab at the base of the unit.

15. Once everything is in place then pull that tab to watch the little girl, quite literally, getting up!

12. Glue the top in place and then add the bowl.
